MEAT INSPECTION IN OGDEN; UNPAID LICENSES

Editor Standard, Dear Sir: An editorial "How to Build a Joint Building" and a news item, "Health Department of the City to be Enlarged," in the Evening Standard of the 16th inst. impressed me particularly in two respects, viz: In regard to the city finances and the city meat inspection.

The editorial says, "The city revenue is not equal to the demands of the government," and the news item about the health department points out that we are to have a veterinarian for the inspection of meat products in the various markets.

About three years ago there was an ordinance before the city council providing for proper meat inspection of all slaughtering establishments supplying the city and prohibiting the sale of noninspected meats. This ordinance passed two readings on the very first evening it was presented to the council, but it, apparently, was never taken up again, and at any rate never became law. From the information obtainable the city council could not see its way clear to provide the necessary funds, even though these funds might not exceed two thousand dollars annually. Notwithstanding this small amount, the city authorities have permitted diseased and unclean meats to be sold in Ogden City right along and I venture to say that there is scarcely a city in the whole United States, the size of Ogden, which has not provided proper protection for its citizens in this respect.

The city ordinance provides for a wholesale butcher license of $100 annually. There are at present not less than 13 concerns who are subject to this ordinance, yet only one of these has paid up to the present time, leaving not less than $1200 of city revenues uncollected. A letter was sent out by the city recorder March 13th, this year, advising that collection would be made through the courts, but so far none have been collected, although the attention of the city recorder and other city authorities has been called to this fact repeatedly.

Merely as a suggestion, would it not be proper that these city licenses be collected and that the funds realized from them be used to employ a competent veterinary surgeon to supervise and inspect the slaughter houses supplying Ogden, and in this way prevent the sale of all diseased, unwholesome and unclean meats? There is at present only one concern in the city of Ogden working under government inspection.

The people of Ogden are entitled to proper protection, while by merely inspecting the meat markets this cannot be accomplished. It must commence with an ante and post-mortem examination of the various food animals at the time of slaughter. Respectfully yours,
(Signed) S. S. JENSEN.

SAFETY FIRST PROVES TO BE A SUCCESS ON THE U. P.

An evidence of the success of the "Safety First" movement is seen in the accident report of the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific for September which has just been received by Superintendent G. O. Brophy's office. During the month there were 90 cases of personal injuries on the division which extends from Cheyenne to Ogden. During the same month last year there were 103 Railroad officials state that the difference is as marked when reports of other months are considered.

The report also gives the number of days lost by employees through injuries. In September 474 days were marked off while in the same month a year ago 786 days were spent in idleness by employees. Since the injured men receive regular wages during the time they are incapacitated, the safety movement saves the road an appreciable amount.

In the report, which is a lengthy one, are described in detail each accident that resulted during the month. At the regular "Safety First" committee meetings, the reports are taken up for consideration and methods are considered to prevent in the future such accidents. Also warnings are issued to employees by pointing out how such accidents occur.

Another plan that has been adopted by the Union Pacific is to fix the blame for an accident. If the man injured is declared by the investigating committee to be guilty of neglect or carelessness, he is given demerits. Likewise if the cause of the accident rests upon others, demerits are given to the responsible party.

ALTMAN RELEASED BY THE POLICE

J. P. Altman, the painter, arrested Tuesday night by Sergeant Layne after complaint had been registered that the man had threatened to kill his daughter, was released yesterday to the custody of his daughter. The daughter stated that she would care for her father in his illness. The police noted that Altman was a different man when he sobered from the effects of liquor.

Sergeant Layne stated today that Altman was in a despondent state when arrested near the mouth of the canyon. The men has Bright's disease and is otherwise incapacitated so that he cannot earn a living for his family. It is believed that his actions toward his stepdaughter were the result of intoxication.

Coming Sunday—Mary Pickford in "The Bishop's Carriage," at the Globe, Prices 5 and 10 cents.

TAX MONEY SLOW IN REACHING THE TREASURY

Tax collections at the county treasurer's office are increasing but the amount turned in this year, compared with last year at this time, is small. It is accounted for by Treasurer Joseph Storey by reason of the fact that the harvest is a little later than it was last year. Sugar beet paydays have been deferred a little, due to the fact that digging did not begin as early as last year.

It is anticipated that when the big sugar beet payday comes, November 15, there will be the usual rush of taxpayers to the treasurer's office to make settlements. It is said that returns on other crops are later this year than usual, but that they will be greater in the long run. As it is, a large number of taxpayers are calling at the treasurer's office each day to pay their annual taxes.

ONE MORE DAY GIVEN THOSE WHO SEEK TO REGISTER

With the primary election only a few days away, some voters who did not register last Tuesday or the Tuesday before, and who did not vote last year or two years ago, are wondering just how they will feel on election day, October 21. They cannot vote for the ticket suggested for nomination, but they still have a chance to vote on election day, November 4.

There is yet one day left for registration purposes, October 25, and it will be well for those who have been neglectful so far to take advantage of the opportunity to register on that day.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM READY FOR THE BIG GAME

At a rousing general assembly held this morning at the high school, enthusiasm for the annual football game with Salt Lake high school was created to such an extent that about half the student body will journey to Salt Lake tomorrow to root for the Orange and Black. Yells were practiced, speeches were heard from the coach, assistant coach and members of the football team and the orchestra rendered selections.

Principal Henry Peterson called the students together, but, after making a few announcements, including a warning to students to be careful with windows neighboring the high school, he turned the assembly over to the athletic committee.

Coach Alonzo Romney presided and in his introductory remarks urged the students to be ladies and gentlemen at the game tomorrow. He deplored the past practices of enthusiastic students hooting at the opposing team, and the backers of the losing team. He urged that true sportsmanship prevail, stating that the losers should not be made the victims of taunts. Also he wanted to see the local students be graceful losers, if they are defeated. His remarks, however, hinted that the Ogden team will be the victor.

Assistant Coach Glasscock urged a large attendance at the game, stating that the cheering of the students has much to do with the way the team plays. He stated that a player in a stiff contest never heard the cheering during the excitement of the game, but its absence is quickly noticed. He declared there is a psychological something in the atmosphere, when the team is being cheered that aids the team wonderfully. Consequently he urged an enthusiastic attendance of rooters.

When Claud Farr, the team captain, spoke he displayed a checked cap and said that it belonged to the mascot of the team. Seemingly the wearer of the cap was known to the students because the display of the headgear was the signal for applause. Also the captain said that the mascot had been connected with winning teams before so took it that the team will win tomorrow with the lucky mascot carrying the water bucket and sporing. He pleased his hearers with the statement that the members of the team are in fine condition, but have not contracted the "swelled head" which is often detrimental to success.

Following the captain's speech, the orchestra gave selections which were heartily applauded and then other members of the team were given an opportunity of telling what will be done to the Salt Lake City outfit tomorrow on Cummings' field.

Coach Romney has much confidence in the team he has built up and believes that the locals will bring home the pennant. The annual sob of the Salt Lake sports writers have been heard, but the local huskies have not let the stories of the poor condition of the Red and Black team give them over confidence. Experience has taught them wisdom and it is the annual custom in Salt Lake to sob about the team a few days before the game in order to spread the idea that the opposing team will have a walkaway. Often the team goes against the Salt Lakers with that idea only to learn that the story was not true.

Romney announced today that his team will be picked from the following:

Farr, end; Fuller, end and half back; Warner, guard; Hastings, guard; Spouberg, tackle; Cooney, tackle; Kay, guard; Boyle, quarter; K. Allison, quarter; Tribe, half-back; Tackett, half-back; Mattson, center; Whittemore, full; Smith, full; G. Adams, half; Korb, end; Glasmann, end. It will be seen from the foregoing that Romney has on hand enough material for two entire back fields and extra men on the line besides.

TROY LAUNDRY HAS A FIRE IN EARLY MORNING

Spontaneous combustion is given as the cause of a fire which occurred in the Troy Steam laundry at 9:45 o'clock this morning and which resulted in the destruction of suits of underwear which were being dried in the rotary dryer.

Employees were alarmed by the sight of smoke coming from the revolving drum and a call was sent to the fire department. Before the department arrived, however, the burning underwear had been extinguished with hand chemicals.

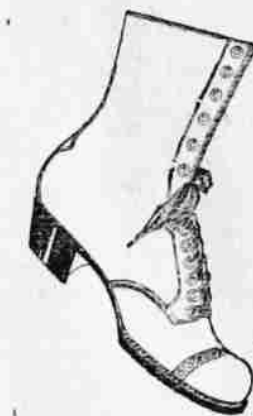

The management is unable to estimate the loss until it is learned how many customers are minus their wearables.

DIVORCE CASES ARE BEFORE JUDGE OF DISTRICT COURT

The action of the defendant for modification of a decree of divorce in the case of Alice Wallace against Arthur E. Wallace in Judge Harris' division of the district court, was brought to a sudden termination when the parties agreed to a settlement. Under the terms of the agreement, the defendant will pay the plaintiff $250 in settlement of all the claims for permanent alimony.

In the divorce case of Edith May Dee Mack against Glen H. Mack, Judge Harris has issued a final decree of divorce to the plaintiff. The interlocutory decree was issued April 16, 1913. By the terms of the decree, Mrs. Mack is given the care and custody of the three minor children, but the father will be permitted to visit with them at reasonable hours.

Reia Gatta has commenced suit against Henry Gatta for divorce on the grounds of habitual drunkenness and failure to provide. The parties were married in Ogden October 1, 1905. The plaintiff asks for divorce, costs and attorney fees and reasonable alimony. There are no children.

In the divorce case of Lottie Metcalf against Leslie Metcalf a decree of divorce has been issued by Judge Howell by which the plaintiff is awarded $20 a month alimony, $50 for attorney fees and costs of suit. The plaintiff also has restored to her maiden name, Charlotte Martin.

PROCEEDINGS IN POLICE COURT

Otto Schneider, charged with drunkenness, was found guilty by Judge W. H. Reeder this morning but a suspended sentence was recorded.

J. H. Murray and Robert Hawey were also given suspended sentences. Murray was charged with drunkenness and Hawey pleaded guilty to leaving a delivery horse untied. Hawey's excuse was that his horse would not run if he built a fire beneath the animal.

Jack Dee was held pending an investigation. Dee was charged with that if he were given one more chance he would go to Pocatello where he could remain sober. The judge wants to know whether he has a job there.
